CHURCH NIGHT AT REVIVAL

Takes Place of Midweek Services-Evangelist Stough Attracts Large Congregations at Both Afternoon and Evening Services.

The attendance at the Wednesday evening service at the armory in the wangelistic campaign on The King's Business was about the same as on the other evenings this week. A thrilling song service led by the chorus unit feet direction of H. Lansing Spooner prepared the way for a sermon of propared the way for a sermon of the power by the evangelist, Dr. Stough. Prayer was offered by Rev. G. H. H. Ewing and the following list of new places for the morning cottage prayer meetings at 3 o'clock was announced by Rev. P. C. Wright, chairman of this committee; Mrs. W. S. Allen, 26 Church street; Mrs. Kirk H. Leavens, 138 Laurel Hill avenue; Mrs. Multim H. Cover, Jr. 42 Freeman avenue; Mrs. Luctus Brown, 16 Warren street; Mrs. Squire the lost Christ.

After an appropriate baritone solo by Henry Herring, Dr. Stough read for his text the verse "But they suppossing him to have been in the company went a day's journey," from which he developed a searching sermon which we find a parallel today. There are people supposing they are Christians. The feet is thay as the regular and elsewhere is full of people who are constant attendants, whose names are people supposing they are Christians do all intents and purposes they are constant attendants, whose names are constant attendants, whose names are on the roils, who are contributors, and to all intents and purposes they are constant attendants, whose names are constant atte on the rolls, who are contributors, and to all intents and purposes they are Christians because they are outwardly church members. The fact is they are mere supposers, mere professors and they have never been possessors.

There are people who have started with Jesus and have lost him on the way through neglect. Think over how you began this day and whether you have given a thought to having Jesus by your side. There are Christians who go not one day but many days without prayer, without reading the Bible, without these things needful for a Christian life. The one day that you live out of touch with Christ you'll know it; if two days, your neighbors will be pretty apt to know someors will be pretty apt to know some-hing about it.

By flagrant disobedience also Christ lay be lost, and some people are try-city there must be an exercise of faith and if a revival is to come to this city there must be an exercise of faith at the beginning. He wants to visit his heritage in Norwich and he will just as surely as the rain came for the absence of the family aitar, no more grace at table, no more fathers praying with their children. The lost Christ spells lost time; for the time we are out of fellowship with him is lost

The October meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. Al was held Wednesday evening at the association building. Delegates were appointed to represent the association at the funeral of its ex-president, N. E. Bishop, and a committee was also appointed to draw up suitable resolutions.

Mr. Bishop was the second president of the association, helding the office for a number of years, and has been vice president since he declined re-election to the presidency several years ago. He served on many important committees, as his counsel and services were much sought on matters pertaining to the association interests. Out of respect to him all other business to come before the board was deferred and the meeting adjourned till later.

He possessed more than most men a generous heart, ready to respond to the appeals of others, a strong sense of justice, and a cheerfulness that endeared him to his associates, by whom he will long be remembered as a personal friend. His ideals for teacher and pupil were ever the noblest, and in aiming to realize them he spared himself no labor and qualied not at any sacrifice.
